

BJC Health Rheumatology

Parramatta · Chatswood · Bondi Junction

P: 1300 252 698

16 May 2026

Dr Linda Chen
Chatswood Family Practice
14 Victoria Avenue
Chatswood NSW 2067

Dear Linda,

RE: HARROD, Catherine — DOB 17/06/1984 — Medicare 3148572036 / 1

Thank you for arranging the autoimmune panel for Catherine. I wanted to write briefly to comment on the results, which I have now reviewed alongside her recent symptoms.

Her ANA returned positive at 1:320 with a speckled pattern. ENA panel was negative for SSA, SSB, Sm, RNP, Scl-70, and Jo-1. Complement levels (C3 and C4) were within normal limits, and her CRP was 4 with an ESR of 14. dsDNA was negative.

In the clinical context — fatigue without arthralgia, no rash, no oral ulceration, no Raynaud's — these results do not meet criteria for any defined connective tissue disease. A positive ANA at this titre in a 41-year-old woman without specific clinical features is most likely incidental, although I would acknowledge that a small subset of these patients evolve over time.

No further specialist follow-up is required at this stage. I have asked her to return to you if she develops new joint symptoms, photosensitive rash, dry eyes / dry mouth, or Raynaud's phenomenon, in which case I would be happy to reassess.

Kind regards,

Dr Ilana Ginges
Rheumatologist
BJC Health
Provider No. 2455678P